

Sewerage grant promising for Shoreline Park

BY DAVID A. FARRELL
State officials held out hope to Hancock County officials on Wednesday that the Shoreline Park area might be in line for a Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) that would see 136 homes added to the District 1 wastewater collection system.

Jim Reeves, manager of the CDBG Development Assistance Division of the Mississippi Department of Economic and Community Development (MDECD), said the Shoreline project ranks high on an assistance list, which is funded through a $14 million fund pool allocated to Mississippi by the federal agency HUD.

Concerning the county's ranking, board of supervisors clerk Mike Necaise said, "We have applied for these grants for years, and if we are better off than the rest of the state, the rest of the state must be in a bad situation because we are in bad need. We are polluting the Bay and that will affect tourism and our industries. It all ties together."

September whether or not the $589,950 proposed project will get a funding approval. The project would be financed with $349,950 in local funds. The rest would be CDBG money. The project will see about 136 homes in Shoreline Park added to the District 1 system, which will leave about 800 homes not on the system. Currently, about 738 homes are served by the District 1 collection system.

Developers plan July 21 meeting with Bay City Council members council they did not intend to surprise them. The council then set a Wednesday, July 21, meeting at 5:15 p.m. with developers. Councilman Tad Black said the meeting will be moved to Bay High if a large crowd is expected.

BY DAVID A. FARRELL
Casino developers who want to build in the Cedar Point area on North Beach Boulevard surprised some councilmen when they appeared before the council at a Monday evening work session.

Residents in the Cedar Point area and along North Beach Boulevard have been openly against any proposed casino development on what has been termed the Raintree site. Thriffley told developers on Monday evening that he felt the legal notice announcing the corporation's intent to apply for a license should have been published in the local newspaper

Successful summer readers

Some of the City-County Library System's 601 registered children participating in the summer reading program gathered at the Bay St. Louis branch on Highway 90 for an awards ceremony conducted by Mike Reader of WLOX-TV. Approximately 8,139 books were checked out of the three library branches (BSL-Kiln-Waveland). Some 393 children completed six books each to win awards. The Bay St. Louis branch checked out 5,865 books to 411 children, with 274 of those completing six each. (Echo staff photo by Janet McQueen)

Play ball!

The Bay St. Louis Little League Girls All-Stars beat Central Harrison 21-7 in the opening night of district play Tuesday. Monday's game was postponed due to rain. Winning pitcher was Hailey Bilbo. In the second game Stone County defeated Woolmarket 41-21. Play will continue throughout the week with the state championship to be determined Friday. According to spokesman Chris Sand, the 11-12-year-old girls tournament play has been suspended in Stone County because of weather and may possibly be moved to Bay St. Louis. The local tournament is held at McDonald Field, Dunbar and Ulman.

Hancock school board approves administrative salary increases

BY LIZ HAAS
The Hancock County School Board recinded Friday's approval for administrative raises of 6 percent and approved raises for administrators based on individual's years of experience, certification and scope of work.

The board amended the budget by $211. On Friday, the board approved a $100 raise for teachers in addition to the $200 raise previously established by the board.

The board's approval Friday of 6 percent raises for administrators included a few raises higher than 6 percent for those who had added responsibilities or were underpaid in the 1992-1993 budget. "What we approved Friday was pretty much in line for the teachers compared to other area districts, but I feel we made some serious mistakes in administrative salary raises for not recognizing the years of experience, scope of work and certification, which this new salary scale does," said board member Cheryl Bennett.

Bay school board ok's $8.8 million budget

BY LIZ HAAS
The Bay-Waveland School board approved the 1993-1994 school budget of $8.8 million, which includes raises for all employees and the addition of new programs, in a Monday meeting.

School principal Sandra Prator, who replaced the retiring principal Rogers James. "The main thing I ask in coming to work for you is for your patience and your support," she told the board.

Prator told the board she believes in both innovative and conservative things, but feels change is inevitable. "Every decision I will make at Bay High will be based on what is best for the students and what is best for the instructional program at Bay High School," she said.

Rhodes as the new director of transportation and maintenance. Board member Linda Penrose told board members and the superintendent she was upset about a new instructional program at North Bay Elementary School she said was in violation of board policy and was not accredited by the state.

The new program, authentic portfolio assessment, is a new way of measuring student achievement by taking samples of work before, during and after the learning process.

Tisdale said, "This type of student assessment has proven quite effective in many districts throughout the state and is not in conflict with accreditation standards." Tisdale said he would research the matter to determine if the program, planned to begin in August, would be in violation of board policy.

 To Those I Love

Those Who Love Me

When I'm gone, release me, let me go...

I have so many things to see and do.

You mustn't tie yourself to me
 with tears,

be happy that we had so many years.

I gave you my love, and you can only guess

how much you gave to me in happiness.

I thank you for the love you each have shown,

but now it's time that I travel alone.

So grieve awhile for me, if grieve you must,

then let your grief be comforted
 by trust.

Bless your memories with your heart...

It's only for awhile that we must part.

I won't be far away, for life goes on...

so if you need me, call, and I will come.

Though you can't see me or touch me, I'll be near...

and if you listen with your heart, you'll hear

all of my love around you, soft and clear.

And then, when you must come this way alone...

I'll greet you with a smile,
 and welcome you home.

 How wonderful it is to have this reassurance from You, Father. Please help me remember these words when I lack Your peace and sleep is hard to find. Amen.

A house is not a home unless it provides food and warmth for the soul as well as for the body. The Lord's curse is on the house of the wicked, but He blesses the home of the righteous.

Local officials assured state officials they could come up with matching funds. Duke Levy, Jr., of Duke Levy & Associates of Waveland, the district's consulting engineer, said the district could raise the funds either through a bond issue or through low-interest state loans.

Reeves said that "if you get this grant, it will be a big swipe at solving the problem."

Reeves was accompanied to the meeting by Deborah Franklin, manager of program implementation with MDECD. Others attending the meeting in the supervisor's board room in the courthouse were three of the five wastewater district board members, Robert E. Crais, Robert E. Barrett and Sidney M. Davis; Grace Aaron, deputy director of Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District; Levy; all five supervisors and Necaise.

Aaron and Levy have been assisting the district on the project.

The project would tie the homes into the existing district 1 system, which uses the Southern Regional Wastewater Management District central plant in Waveland as a processing site.

Shoreline Park is located northwest of Bay St. Louis along State Hwy. 603.

Studies have shown that the use of septic tanks by Shoreline residents is having an adverse impact on the environment, Aaron said. Low-lying Shoreline areas are regularly flooded by heavy rains and are affected by tides, thus causing septic tanks to overflow into ditches which drain into area bayous.

Reeves said the fact that the situation is a threat to residents' health and the environment gives the project additional points, making it more likely to be funded.

Franklin said she and Reeves were in Hancock to visually examine the Shoreline site. She said the fact Shoreline was in line for on-site inspection made it more likely the project will be funded, adding the inspections will take place over the next two to three weeks.

Reeves said sewerage conditions in Shoreline represented an "imminent threat to the health" of residents and that results in the project being placed higher on the agency's priority list.

He said the Shoreline project is competing with about 140 to 150 other proposed projects for funding.

Aaron said the district could not come up with enough funds to completely solve the problem, so it is attempting to do it piecemeal.

She said the Shoreline area consists mainly of small lots, and soil conditions do not allow septic tanks to percolate properly. She added, in some cases, wells are close to septic tanks, which are both flooded by tides and rains, and then run off into canals.

Review work goes to Rafferty, not Scafide

BY DAVID A. FARRELL

The issue of the reappointment of City Attorney John Scafide arose again at a Bay St. Louis City Council meeting on Monday evening.

The council assigned a review of a proposed waste management agreement between Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County to Gulfport attorney Donald Rafferty, and not to Scafide.

Rafferty was appointed by the council specifically to handle matters pertaining to gambling.

The decision to give the review work to Rafferty, which did not pertain to gambling, came after a motion by Councilman Charles Scianna failed for lack of a majority. Councilman Jimmy Rutherford was absent.

Scianna motioned to give the work to Scafide for review. His motion was seconded by Councilman Tom Farve.

During discussion of the motion, Councilman Tad Black asked if the council "is putting itself in a position it cannot get out of" by giving the work to Scafide when the council is planning a lawsuit to determine whether Mayor Eddie Favre can appoint Scafide without council approval.

Scianna replied, "I have no problem working with the city attorney in this instance."

Black replied, "I am confused. We are fixing to get into a court process."

Councilman Farve then told Black he felt Scafide was still the city attorney until the court case is settled.

Said Black: "I don't believe that."

Councilmen then voted on Scianna's motion. It failed 2-2 for lack of a majority. Scianna problem there with keeping Scafide" to do the work.

Black's motion then carried 4-0.

At the July 6 council meeting, the council voted to file what it termed a "friendly suit" to determine whether Mayor Favre could reappoint Scafide.

The council maintained it had authority to review and either approve or reject the Scafide reappointment while Mayor Favre, citing court opinions, said he had the authority to reappoint Scafide without coun-

"I want the public to know that city government is still functioning well. We okayed eight appointments the mayor submitted but disagreed on only one."

—Black

and Tom Farve voted for the motion; Councilman James Thriffley III and Black voted against it.

After Scianna's motion failed, Black motioned that Rafferty be given the agreement to review. Thriffley seconded that motion.

Scianna then told the council he would vote for Black's motion, but added he saw "no cil approval.

The council had approved other appointments and reappointments by Mayor Favre but balked with a 3-2 vote on the Scafide reappointment.

In the vote, Councilmen Farve and Rutherford voted to confirm Scafide, while Thriffley, Scianna and Black voted

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I have been receiving once again reports on illegal dumping in the Bayou LaCroix area.

Even though this property is in the buffer zone of the John C. Stennis Space Center, much of the land is leased by the government and is still owned by private owners.

It is illegal to dump litter on this property, and fines can be heavy for those caught.

In addition to dealing with local government, one must deal with the federal government, too.

The county has a legal dump at the Standard Community for use by county residents, and also has several compactor areas across the county.

I hope that individuals dumping illegally will be caught and have to pay for their illegal deeds.

This weekend will be the big celebration of the 17th annual St. Paul's Seafood Festival in Pass Christian. Proceeds from the festival, which runs from Friday through Sunday, will go to St. Paul's Elementary School.

The festival is to be held on the school's grounds, one-half block from the Pass Harbor.

The hours on Friday are 6 to 11 p.m.; Saturday, 11 a.m. to midnight; and Sunday 11 a.m. to 11 p.m.

In addition to some very good seafood, there will be events such as a 5K run, dance exhibition, kiddie land, crafts, raffles and much live entertainment.

A fireworks display is set for Friday night at dark. Foods will include, shrimp, crabs, fish and seafood platters, oysters, fish and crab po-boys, crab-stuffed potatoes, egg rolls, gumbo, hot dogs, hamburgers, chili dogs, boiled shrimp, barbecue, refreshments, and desserts.

Much effort has been put forth in planning for this big annual festival, which is now nationally recognized in the 1992 World Book Encyclopedia.

I will see you at the seafood festival in Pass Christian.

When 911 came on line, I was under the impression this would eliminate streets with the same names from the area to avoid confusion.

It is apparent that all streets in Hancock County were not taken into consideration.

The appearance of residents before the Hancock County Board of Supervisors bore this out this past week when it was revealed there are numerous 7th streets in the area.

I feel this is an issue that should be addressed immediately by whoever is responsible.

A review apparently needs to be made of all streets in the county once again. Those with duplicate names should be changed.

We experience a problem when we need to find an address and there are several streets with the same name.

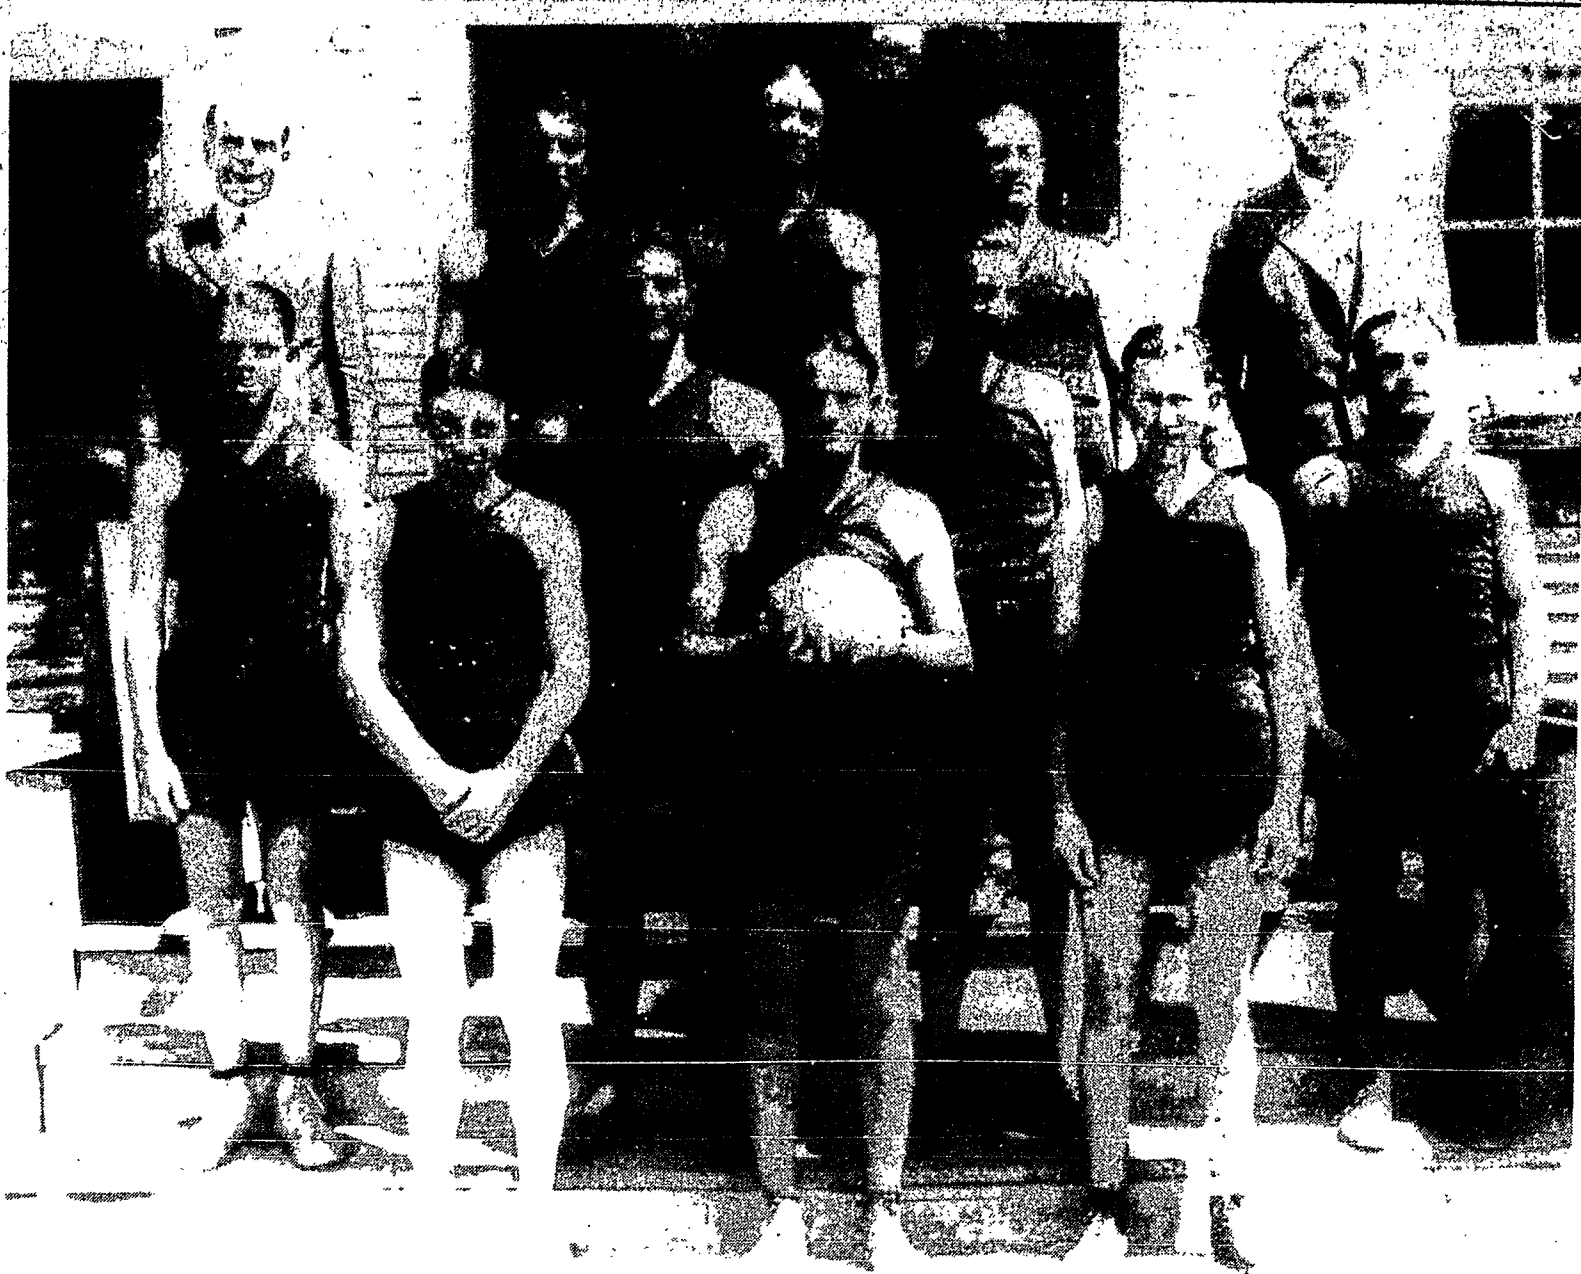

We will see what happens.

Have you noticed the new lights on Drinkwater from Highway 90 to the Hancock Medical Center?

The style ties in with those on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis and really look good at night.

The old lights and poles on Drinkwater were removed. I cannot recall them ever working well anyway, and it was good they were replaced a few weeks ago with new ones.

Additional lighting is also provided to the Hancock County Walking Track by the new lights.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

David Bowen says he will not run for governor

Remember David Bowen, the dashing bachelor Congressman about Washington D.C. who represented Mississippi's 2nd District and gave up his seat in 1982 after 10 years in the U.S. House?

Well, David has moved back to Mississippi for good, after deciding that living in Washington, despite the excitement of being near the seat of power, just isn't worth it.

"I find I could live longer, cheaper and happier in Mississippi," says Bowen, still a trim, athletic bachelor at 60. He's bought a townhouse in Jackson and plans to assemble his papers and do some writing (he's written several plays the past few years, one of which was produced in Washington.)

Before some gubernatorial hopefuls become worried that David Bowen has come back just to run for governor, let their minds be disabused. "I am not going to run for governor; I'm not going to run for anything. I'm going to stay out of politics," he says.

That does not preclude him doing what he can to help the Democratic Party in Mississippi, even using his talents as a political organizer in a top party post if he is asked to.

Anyone who remembers Bowen's upset victory in the 2nd Congressional District race in 1972 — an ex-college political science professor making his first run for office — has to acknowledge his uncommon ability to put together from scratch an effective white-black campaign operation.

Bowen proceeded to handily beat back four concerted attempts by the Republicans to take him out of Congress as one of the Democrats targeted by the National GOP.

When Bowen surprisingly decided not to run again in 1982, it was not that he thought he might be defeated. He saw the handwriting on the wall that the 2nd was going to be redistricted by the federal court until the district makeup virtually assured that a black candidate would win.

"I had always gotten along quite well with my black constituency, probably getting 55 percent of the black vote, but rather than get involved in bloody battles every two years, it was a good time to hang it up," he says.

Bowen is now convinced that there is a lot of merit in the term limitation movement for members of Congress. "I don't think the system was ever intended for someone to get there and just stay term after term," he says.

For three years after he ended his last term in 1983, Bowen came down to teach political science at Mississippi State University. He took a look at running against Sen. Thad Cochran in 1984, but stepped aside when former Gov. William Winter got into the race.

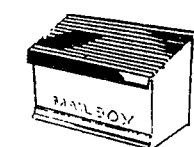

The last six years Bowen has been in Washington doing consulting work and serving as executive director of the Council for the National Interest, a Middle East foreign policy organization. Foreign policy, he concedes, has always been a critical interest of his.

Bowen, originally from Cleveland, Miss., had been one of the intellectual rarities to succeed in Mississippi politics, a graduate of Harvard University and later Oxford University in England. In the 1960s he taught political science at Millsaps College.

What has struck Bowen since his move back to Mississippi is the undue emphasis still attached here to putting ideological labels of "liberal" and "conservative" to anyone in the public scene. "People elsewhere around the nation from what I've seen are getting away from these old labels, and are trying to find how to get things done," Bowen said.

Even in Congress, Bowen added, "they are beginning to realize labels don't sell anymore."

Bowen favors the movement of the Democratic Party to the middle of the road. "I happen to like the direction Bill Clinton was taking the party, but I don't know if we are going to get there," he declared. But he doesn't see Mississippi ever voting for a Democratic president until it can see the party "as the one Franklin D. Roosevelt created."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bravo! to board members who rejected pay increase

Dear Editor:

I wish to extend my congratulations and thanks to those members of the Hancock County School Board who were courageous enough to exert their independence and vote on the side of education during their recent budget determination.

As a close observer of operations at Hancock High School over the last three years, it has become obvious to me that the weak links in the educational chain are the mediocre performances of the superintendent and administrative leadership.

But as long as Mississippi legislators refuse to act in the best interest of education and move to appoint superintendents, we will be stuck with marginally competent individuals elected by the "good old boy" network.

In case people have forgotten, the crux of the educational process takes place in the classroom. Or in the current vernacular, it's the teaching, stupid.

If the teachers are happy with the raises they are receiving, I see no need for the superintendent and administrators to be any happier than they are.

My proposal would be that administrative salary increases be no greater than the average dollar amount received by teachers. Let's put the money where it will produce the greatest return for education.

I encourage all members of the community to express their support for those board members who are willing to make the hard decisions in support of quality education in Hancock County, and to make it perfectly clear that we will not tolerate the greed and arrogance of an elected official whose main concern since taking office has been the size of her paycheck.

Sincerely,
John S. Kolodziej

Speeding motorists on Beach Blvd. should be ticketed

To the Editor:

Beach Boulevard should be a leisure drive. It is not a through street or a state highway, nor is it a boulevard.

Anyone using this scenic drive should be using it for pleasure — going to the beach, driving home or to visit a friend, or maybe on a relaxing drive. The speed on this drive should be rigidly enforced.

We have three injured children in the hospital as of this writing. May our law enforcement officers keep this fact in mind when stopping a speeder.

Speeding is no laughing matter, as I have witnessed when the officer knows the speeder. These irresponsible individuals should be punished to the fullest extent of the law.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

BE HONEST

Avoid from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyer's trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

THE BOTTOM LINE

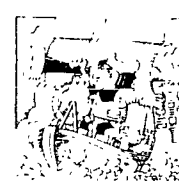

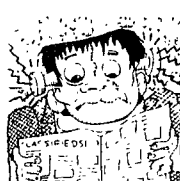

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

Pesticide residues: No problem

Special to the Echo
By Bethany Waldrop

Many reports have raised consumer awareness and caused alarm about possible pesticide residues in food — especially children's food. But scientifically based reports indicate residues in children's food are not a problem.

"Since the possibility of residues in children's food is an emotional issue, scientific facts and logic are usually missing from discussions concerning this issue," said Dr. Melissa Mixon, human nutrition specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "If you look at the scientific facts, you find that a lot of the concern can be relieved."

Mixon suggested that consumers ask for scientific data when claims about pesticides are made in the media.

In the United States, all pesticides must be tested for human and environmental safety and registered with the Environmental Protection Agency. After the pesticides are thoroughly tested, human tolerance levels are set and approved by the EPA.

The Food and Drug Administration monitors actual pesticide levels and enforces set tolerance levels in foods.

An FDA report published in May indicated that of more than 10,000 food samples tested, only 0.5 percent contained traces of residues, and no residues were found in amounts more than set tolerance levels.

"The foods monitored were tested unwashed and unpeeled — and since food processors and most consumers wash or peel produce, many of the residues found in the tests were higher than the actual amount people are exposed to," Mixon said. "Many residues can be washed off fresh produce."

"Of the samples tested that had residues, all were well below tolerance levels, and no residues were found in baby formula or infant foods," Mixon said.

"Then looking at reports of residues in food, remember that the dose makes the poison — and the doses in the residues were not high enough to cause problems."

The amount of exposure to a chemical, not the chemical's presence or absence, determines what effects, if any, would occur following exposure to the chemical.

An added factor enhancing the safety of the U.S. food supply is that scientists are now able to detect very small traces of residues, such as parts per billion and parts per trillion, Mixon said. One part per trillion is equivalent to one second in 317 centuries.

"A direct result of these extremely sensitive procedures is that we can detect the presence of chemicals at much lower levels — this has led to increased concern about the use of pesticides," the nutritionist said.

Mixon noted that Mother Nature is the largest pesticide manufacturer on the globe and produces natural poisons that are more widespread and often thousands of times more potent than man-made pesticides. Many of these natural poisons are known carcinogens.

"The purpose of these natural toxins, found in most foods we eat, is to help plants and animals protect themselves from bacteria, molds, insects and other predators," Mixon said. "But these toxins shouldn't alarm consumers. It is hard to find a food that doesn't contain some naturally occurring harmful chemicals, and our bodies are usually equipped to handle these substances by metabolizing or excreting them."

Even though plants and animals have natural pesticides, synthetic pesticides are still necessary to produce quality crops.

Crops produced without pesticides would have low quality, and consumers would have to accept blemished produce at higher prices.

"Without pesticide use, both crop losses and food prices could be as much as 50 percent greater than they are now," Mixon said.

"Even when pesticides are used, farmers still lose about 20 percent of their crops' yield to pests, including insects, weeds, diseases and nematodes," said Dr. Jim Hamer, leader of the environmental and agricultural chemical education unit at Mis-issippi State University. "It is well-known that crops produced without pesticides will be of much lower quality and yield."

Reports indicate both the FDA and the World Health Organization consider pesticide residues in foods as only their fifth food safety priority, after food microbes, nutritional imbalances, environmental contaminants and naturally occurring toxins.

"Consumers need to be aware that they can be exposed to pesticide residues from home-grown produce, if pesticides are applied incorrectly," the nutritionist said. "Be sure to follow label directions exactly when using pesticide at home."

If consumers still worry about pesticide residues in their food, Mixon suggested these steps:

- Wash all fresh produce with plenty of fresh water, but no soap, since some soaps may leave residues.
 - Avoid foods that show signs of mold or decay, and
 - Eat a wide variety of foods to ensure a decreased exposure to any one specific chemical.
- "Contamination is food preparation and handling is a far greater risk to a safe food supply than pesticide residues," Mixon said.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

Spinach-Chicken Tetrizzini goes from freezer to oven

A tried and true "standby" recipe is a necessity for just about every cook; for, no matter how well you plan (or think that you've planned) there will always be that unexpected occasion which calls for spur-of-the-moment hospitality.

Such was the case at my house the other afternoon, when a couple of friends from out-of-town stopped by for a visit; so, of course, I asked them to stay for dinner, and then started racking my brain as to contents of fridge and freezer and shelves!

Fortunately, I've fallen into the habit of "stashing" an assortment of "sudden specials" in the freezer, including a few casseroles, in addition to portions of cooked chicken in sauce and so forth.

So, a spinach-chicken-thin spaghetti mixture came out of the freezer, and with a hastily-put-together salad, the problem was solved.

Even if I hadn't had the casserole on hand, all would have been well. I always keep various sorts of pasta on hand, along with cans of peeled tomatoes and of mushrooms, for quickly put-together dishes.

Add pieces of chicken or ham or other meat, and you've a fine dish.

My casserole that afternoon was chicken-tetrizzini, but you may substitute ham or beef or shrimp, or even tuna, for the chicken called for in the recipe.

Here's: SPINACH-CHICKEN TETRAZZINI

2 cups cooked chicken, in chunks
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 bunch fresh spinach or 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well drained

1 medium onion, chopped
2 cups chicken stock or broth
1/3 cup flour
1 cup milk
2 cups grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup dry sherry (optional)
8 oz. thin spaghetti, cooked and drained

Melt approximately three tablespoons of the butter in a rather large skillet, add the chopped onion and saute until soft. (At this point if you're using fresh spinach, rinsed, drained and chopped, add the spinach and saute it to the wilting point, stirring from time to time.) Otherwise, just add the thawed spinach to the sauteed onions, and cook for just one slow minute. Remove onions and spinach and set aside.

Add the remainder of the butter or margarine to the skillet, melting slowly over low heat. Add the flour and dashes of pepper to your taste, stirring the while, and gradually stir in the reserved broth or stock and the milk.

If you haven't either broth or stock on hand, use canned broth or even bouillon cubes or granules, if you must — but chicken broth is so easy to keep on hand, and what else do you do with the chicken bones, anyway?

At any rate, add the cheese, onions and spinach, along with the chicken chunks, and let's not forget the sherry! Stir over low heat until the cheese melts.

Add the spaghetti to the sauce, and spoon the whole business into a 2-quart baking dish. Top with foil, and bake for a half hour in a 350 degree oven. Remove foil, and bake for another 5 minutes or so. (6 or 8 servings)

Kidd, Knievel rematch may be held here

BY DAVID A. FARRELL

Eddie Kidd, who won the Daredevil Duel Friday night against Robbie Knievel, said on Monday, shortly before he left Bay St. Louis to return to London, that he and Knievel will have a rematch, probably in Bay St. Louis.

Kidd spoke to The Sea Coast Echo from Diamondhead, where he was staying during his appearances here.

"If he wants a rematch, I'll give him one," said Kidd, who injured his back on his last motorcycle jump and was taken to a Gulfport hospital to be checked for spinal injuries.

"In fact, he has already asked for a rematch," said Kidd.

He added that he was not sure when the rematch might take place, since he has other engagements planned in the near future. His next jump will be in October in Las Vegas, he said, so he will start training as soon as his back injury allows.

Kidd said he was returning to London, his home, and then would travel to Spain where he said he planned to "relax my back."

Eddie Kidd

Kidd is 32, and has been jumping professionally for 15 years, he said.

Said Kidd, concerning the jump on which he was injured: "I was lucky to stay on the bike. It was the worst jump I have ever made. The nose got up too high."

Kidd jumped 214, 201 and 215 feet, combination jumps that put him five feet ahead of Knievel and won the competition.

However, Knievel made the night's longest jump of 223 feet. "It was a very close competition," said Kidd. "He (Knievel) was jumping really great."

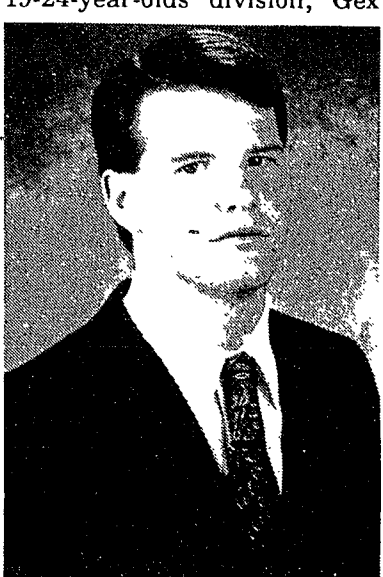

The competition was held at Casino Magic. Officials estimated the crowd at 6,000.

The competition was televised nationally on pay-per-view channels and internationally by satellite. Knievel is the son of famed stunt motorcycle jumper Evel Knievel.

Casino Magic inks agreement to operate casino in Greece

Casino Magic Corp. announced it has reached an agreement in principle under which Casino Magic would develop, operate, manage and partially own an American-style casino in Greece, pending licensing approval by the Greek Government's Gaming Commission.

The casino, one of nine which the Greek government has proposed to license in Greece, will be in the four-star Sithonia Beach Hotel in Porto Carras, a large tourist resort and leisure complex owned and operated by Touristik Georgiki Exagigiki S.A. (TGE), a Greek company organized and existing under the laws of the Republic of Greece.

The Porto Carras tourist resort is located approximately 60 miles southeast of Thessaloniki, Greece, near Neos Marmaras on the Aegean Sea. The population within a 100-mile radius of Porto Carras exceeds 2 million.

The resort complex features three hotels, with a total of more than 1,200 rooms and suites, a conference center, 14 restaurants and lounge facilities accommodating more than 2,500 patrons, retail shops, an 18-hole championship golf course, riding school, tennis courts, indoor games, indoor and outdoor theaters, water sports and a marina with berths for 180 vessels.

The agreement contemplates that Casino Magic will receive management fees of 2 percent of the casino's gross gaming revenues and 10 percent of the profits, and, as 49 percent owner of the casino, will be entitled to receive a pro-rata share of the casino's profits.

Casino Magic's investment in the project will be approximately $15 million. The final arrangement will be subject to the negotiation of definitive agreements.

The Porto Carras casino is expected to comprise more than 30,000 square feet of the Sithonia Beach hotel. The American-style casino will be open to the public and will feature 350 to 400 slot machines and approximately 50 table games including American and French roulette, blackjack, poker, craps and baccarat. The casino will also feature a "Salon Privee" with more traditional, high-stakes European games such as chemin de fer, as well as American games.

Marlin F. Torguson, president and chief executive officer of Casino Magic Corp., said, "We are very pleased with this

New regs on exempt license implemented

The Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks has implemented a new policy on exempt licenses.

Persons exempt because of a disability will no longer be issued a license by the offices of the circuit clerks of the courts of Mississippi. Instead, that individual must have, on his person, proof of residency and disability.

The above is a result of action taken by state legislators during the past legislative session. The legislature also made it mandatory for all sportsmen 65 and over to carry proof of residency and proof of age in lieu of an exempt license.

Proof of residency may be shown by a Mississippi driver's license or any two of the following documents: proof of payment of Mississippi ad valorem taxes for current tax year, current Mississippi income tax return, current Mississippi voter registration, current Mississippi motor vehicle registration or current Mississippi homestead exemption receipt.

Proof of age may be shown by a Mississippi driver's license or a copy of birth certificate.

Proof of disability may be shown by the following:

Blindness: A letter from physician on letterhead certifying blindness.

Paraplegic or multiple amputee: No additional proof required.

Railroad Retirement Board, Social Security Administration or Veterans Administration: Persons adjudged totally disabled by any of these groups must have a letter from that entity certifying their disability. The letter shall be renewed annually.

Three earn NRA certification

Richard Kane, Tom Williams and Andy Elchos of the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Fisheries and Parks, attended the National Rifle Association's Instructor Program Academy.

They were certified in the instruction of Hunter Safety teaching techniques and certified as National Rifle Association-approved range officers.

Kane, Williams and Elchos are also certified in turkey hunting techniques and white tail deer techniques. They hold several other certifications under NRA's certification programs of instruction.

Bay Thunder competes in state tournament

The Bay Thunder baseball team will be traveling to Clinton to participate in the National Baseball Congress State Tournament at Mississippi College Friday, July 16 to take on the Ofahoma Braves at 5 p.m.

The winner will go on to play on Monday, July 19 at 5 p.m., and the loser will play Sunday, July 18 at 1 p.m.

"Our team has been stalled from playing games due to so much rain," Coach Elkins stated.

"We have had ten rainouts, and our pitchers need more work. We may have to throw four pitchers in our first game and hope our hitters will come through with clutch hits and good base running.

We will probably have the biggest roster in the tournament, and even though the other teams may be small in numbers, they will have a great amount of talent on their teams."

Many of the teams will have players from Mississippi State, Ole Miss, Southern Mississippi, Delta State, Jackson State, University of Alabama and many other colleges and universities.

"Our goal is to play hard, play together as a team and win the first game. We would love to win the tournament, but first we must achieve our goals," said Elkins.

Seven HHS students attend USM camp

Participants included Christy Arcement, grade 11; Donna Carrell, grade 12; Brandy Favre, grade 11; Chastity Head, grade 11; Heather Kopf, grade 12; Denise Peterson, grade 11; and Angela Reynolds, grade 8.

against the confirmation.

After the Monday meeting, Black said he wanted residents to put the dispute over the Seaside reappointment in perspective.

"I want the public to know that city government is still functioning well," said Black. "We okayed eight appointments the mayor submitted but disagreed on only one."

He added, "The disagreement specifically is over whether the mayor has the power to make the appointment without the consent of the council. We believe he doesn't. If he does, why even submit the names to the council?"

Camp Invention

Camp exposes children to creative thinking

BY LIZ HAAS

Children ages 7-13 from all over the Coast enjoyed a week at Camp Invention held at Coast Episcopal School in Bay St. Louis last week.

The camp offered classes designed to spur creative ideas and the creation of scientific inventions.

"We designed the classes to do creative, innovative thinking with the children and teach them problem solving and critical thinking," said camp director Lisa Williams, who teaches first grade at Coast Episcopal.

Campers created inventions, patented their inventions and decided how they could sell them.

"For example, they did some brainstorming on how to create their own space ships and what it would take to make them work," she said.

Campers attended four one hour and fifteen minute classes daily. On lunch break, they did creative activities as a whole.

Williams said, "The children were divided into small, multi-age, cooperative learning groups set up so the children could help each other."

"This was the first year we've done this," she said.

Williams said parents at the school were looking for something for their children to do during the summer.

"We looked at different programs and felt this one would meet our needs," she said.

All camp instructors are teachers at Coast Episcopal, with the exception of one who teaches at Bay Middle School.

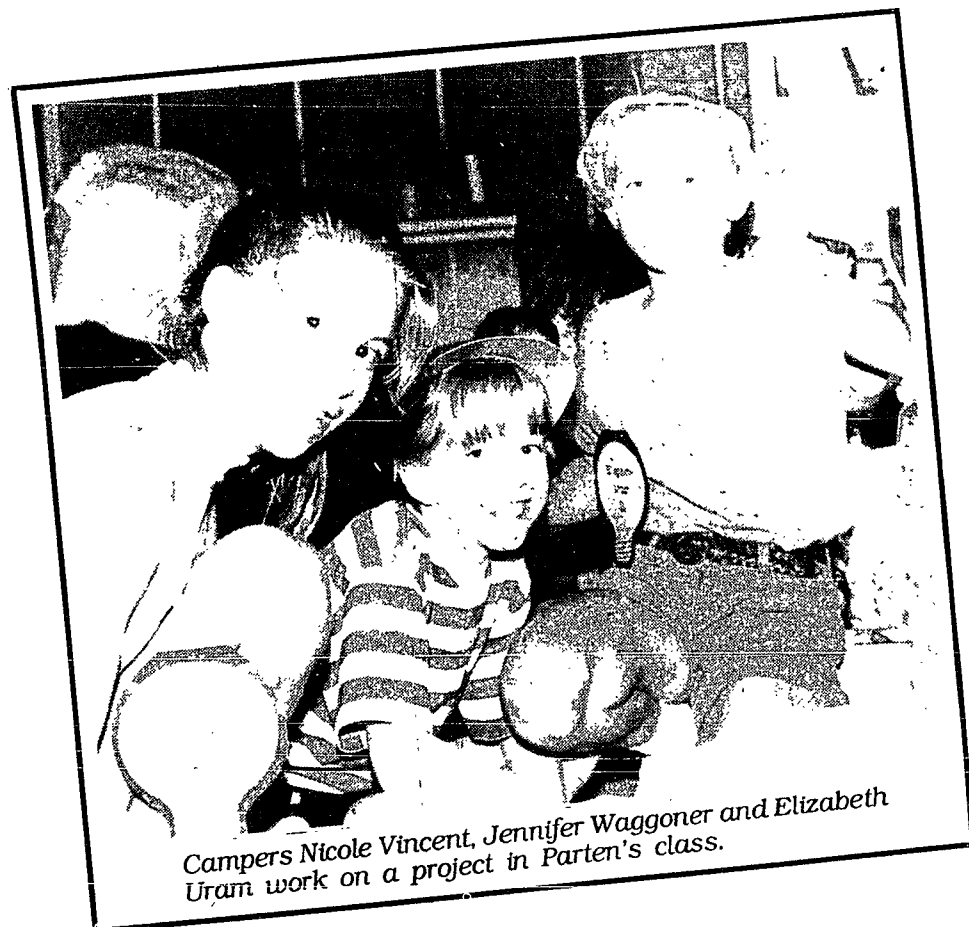

Teachers included Charlie Denton, a PE and music teacher at Coast Episcopal, who led the children in recess activities and assisted other camp instructors; Malin Chamberlain, Bay Middle School teacher, instructed campers in the scientific end of the inventions; Christine Ladner, second grade teacher at Coast Episcopal, was in charge of brainstorming activities at the camp; Laurie Parten, sixth grade teacher at Coast Episcopal, led campers in the construction of castles and other medieval inventions; and Kathleen Jenkins, fourth grade teacher at Coast Episcopal, helped campers with the actual inventions.

"The children really seemed to enjoy themselves, and we've had a lot of positive comments from the parents," said Williams.

Tucker Colburn works on an invention in Jenkins' class.

Campers Nicole Vincent, Jennifer Waggoner and Elizabeth Uram work on a project in Parten's class.

Summer Ballet workshop planned

The Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble and the Ballet Place of Bay St. Louis will sponsor a two-week summer dance workshop July 26 through August 6 at the Ballet Place Dance Studio.

at 356 Main Street, Bay St. Louis.

Workshop classes will be taught by guest professional dancers Elizabeth McCoy and Mateo Torres of The Nashville Ballet, who appeared last December in the Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble's production of "The Nutcracker," performing the Sugar Plum Fairy Pas De Deux and "Snow Pas De Deux" to a sold-out house.

McCoy danced with the Nashville Ballet for the past four seasons, performing such roles as Desdemona in Jose Limon's "The Moor's Pavane," "Sugar Plum Fairy" in "Nutcracker" and most recently the lead as Cinderella in Prokofiev's "Cinderella."

Before moving to Nashville, McCoy danced professionally with the Atlanta Ballet, Dance South, the Carlisle Project, and as principal dancer with the Wilkes-Barre Ballet Theatre in Pennsylvania.

Torres, a native of Pasadena, Calif., will be starting his third season dancing with Nashville

Ballet this fall. Torres, who has studied at San Francisco Ballet School and North Carolina School of the Arts, has also performed with the Pasadena Dance Theatre, North Carolina Dance Theatre and Pennsylvania Ballet.

His repertoire includes "Petrouchka," "Sylvia Pas De Deux," "The Cavalier Prince in "Nutcracker" and the Prince in "Cinderella."

Interested dancers, age 10 through adult, will be placed in one of four levels and must register by phone no later than Saturday, July 24.

Beginner students will have class three days each week; intermediate and advance intermediate classes dance daily; and the advanced level has technique, and pointe or variations daily.

Dancers may also register for one week only if unable to attend both weeks.

For information or registration call artistic director Sharon Loiacano at 467-4601 or 466-2625.

Leadership Mississippi identifies needs and proposes solutions

Emerging leaders in Mississippi are better prepared to recognize and respond to the needs of the state after completing the 1992-93 six-month program of Leadership Mississippi.

As part of the leadership training program, the 30 participants were divided into five regional teams. Each team was responsible for identifying an area of need in the state and proposing a solution that could be applied to the area.

One team identified the need to improve state citizens' impressions of public education in Mississippi in order to improve the overall image of the state's public education system.

The project report, entitled "Opening a Dialog Between Citizens and School Officials," explained the steps the team took to gather information on citizens' concerns and needs regarding public education in their community.

The citizens of Pass Christian were surveyed to complete the data for the project.

Members of this team included Johnny Atherton and Paul Thompson of Gulfport; Dean Flanner and Randall Strange of Hattiesburg; Joyce Lee of Bay St. Louis; and Becky Montgomery of Long Beach.

Reports from the four additional teams included "A Closer Look at Community Foundations"; "Mississippi Brain Drain"; "Mississippi's College Graduate Exodus"; "Community Tourism Development Using Private-Sector Data Base"; and "Mission Mississippi — Brochure Development."

Leadership Mississippi, a program sponsored by the Mississippi Economic Council, identified emerging leaders in the state and encourages them to become involved in community and civic affairs.

The program was founded in 1974 as only the second one of its kind in the nation. Graduates of the program represent a wide range of business professionals, public officials and community leaders.

For more information contact the Mississippi Economic Council at 969-0022.

Govt. contracting seminar planned

A seminar titled "Government Contracting and Small Purchases" will be held Wednesday, July 28 from 6:30-8:30 p.m. at the Gulf Coast Business Technology Center on Popp's Ferry Road in Biloxi. Ed Covacevich of the Mississippi Contract Procurement Center will cover the following areas:

- small business/small purchase set asides—competition and price reasonableness
- legal effect of quotations
- purchase orders/BPAs/imprest fund
- bank card buying

The seminar is free, but pre-registration is encouraged. Call 863-2933 to register. The seminar is sponsored by the Mississippi Contract Procurement Center, the USM Small Business Development Center, the Coast Chamber, Gulf Coast Business Technology Center & Greater Biloxi Economic Development Foundation.

Blossman employee completes training

Troy Marcukaitis has recently completed a comprehensive G.A.S. Check training program at the Blossman Gas training center in Ocean Springs. Marcukaitis is a service technician at the Blossman Gas branch office in Bay St. Louis.

He received extensive classroom and hands-on training. G.A.S. Check, which stands for Gas Appliance System Check-up, is a national safety program designed to reduce the chances of accidental injury to consumers and to reduce property damage. Its goal is to eliminate residential accidents involving propane gas.

Garry Thompson

Thompson earns MSU scholarship

Garry Thompson, a junior in ornamental horticulture at Mississippi State University, has received one of two scholarships awarded annually by the Mississippi Agricultural Chemicals Council.

Thompson, a Bay St. Louis native, has been recognized as an MSU President's Scholar and a Dean's Scholar and has received the Walter E. Davis and Overcash fruit science scholarships.

He is active in the Horticulture Club, Phi Alpha Xi horticulture honorary, Alpha Zeta and the Mississippi Nurseryman's Association.

MACC, representing the Mississippi chemical industry, selected Thompson and Starkville native Kevin Hensler from a field of six applicants based on their good academic record and demonstrated need.

Peoples announces dividend

Peoples Financial Corporation announced record earnings for the six months ended June 30, 1993.

Net income for the first six months increases 121 percent to $2.7 million compared with the first six months of 1992. Earnings for the first six months amounted to $98 per share on 25,000 shares outstanding.

Commenting on the results, Chevis C. Swetman, president and chief executive officer, said, "The Peoples Bank's strong performance is directly related to the booming Gulf Coast economy. The Gulf Coast is leading the national economy by 12-18 months, and we are strategically located to capitalize on the fastest growth market in the United States.

"Our total deposits increases 22 percent compared to last year, and loans increased 10 percent. We now have numerous requests for good quality commercial loans. This is especially important because the bank will be able to increase its net interest spread by making good commercial loans rather than investing in government securities. As a result we have increased the holding company's common stock semi-annual dividend $1 per share to $9 per share."

CONSUMER UPDATE

Compare the spending habits of your college student to their colleagues . . .

By Janet K. Lukens
Area Consumer Money
Management Specialist

A recent study of the expenditure patterns of Mississippi college students enrolled in public universities may be of interest to parents with college-age children.

Students surveyed reported monthly expenses ranging from a minimum of $68.75 to a maximum of $8,139.50 with average expenses of those surveyed at $1,183.19.

Of this average monthly total, $645.79 (55.7%) was attributed to expenditure categories other than tuition, books, and school supplies.

Students identified 11 categories of expenses. Tuition accounted for the single largest monthly expense. Housing and food were the next largest areas of spending.

Other expense categories, in order of size in the average student budget, included transportation, clothing, entertainment, health care, personal care, organizations and miscellaneous.

The study suggests that more than one-half (50.3%) of the students do budget their spending money.

Students surveyed reported using an average of four credit cards with the actual number for any one student ranging from zero to a maximum of 20 cards.

College is the first opportunity for many young adults to manage money independently. Spending patterns and a spending personality is still being developed.

Some financial counselors recommend that young adults take the time to analyze their own spending behaviors in achieve goals while others just want enough to pay the bills.

The following descriptions of spending patterns are part of a MSU/Cooperative Extension Service publication designed to teach college students awareness in spending habits.

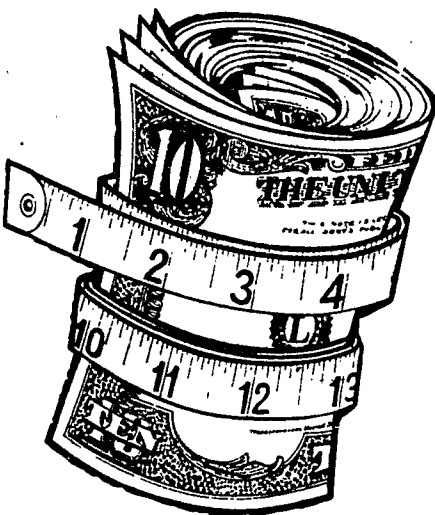

Spender Type 1. They spend money only for only what they need, shop for the best deals, save for emergencies and always have money.

Spender Type 2. They like nothing but the best, feel that cheap stuff isn't worth having. They feel they must have money to get ahead in life. Expensive clothes are important to them.

Spender Type 3. They feel that they deserve the nice things in life and that nobody ever has enough. They feel that people should buy the things they want NOW, therefore, credit is necessary.

Spender Type 4. These spenders feel that worrying about money never helps. They live by the philosophy that people should not worry because money will come from somewhere. They may also believe that keeping track of spending can drive one crazy.

Spender Type 5. This group believes that money cannot buy happiness. They operate on the premise that money is not necessary for having fun, and that other things are more important than money.

order to develop productive habits in spending and financial planning.

Spenders can be divided into categories by the way they spend and feel about money. Some people seek power, status or prestige with money, while others attempt to achieve security with money. Some of us look at money as a tool to
